Mr. Michael Matthews, S&T Program Manager, Department of Homeland Security	TRAVEL: Attended the 1st International Sports Security Conference (ISSC). Sponsored participation was a direct result of Mr. Matthew's work in the SERRI-funded Sport-Evac project. The ISSC was a major international initiative aimed at assembling key decision makers to shape the international agenda on sports integrity and security, while enhancing global cooperation. The event offered delegates not only thorough debate but also an opportunity to network with international counterparts. The conference was in Doha, Qatar, on 9th and 10th March 2011 and was limited to a select delegation of 150 figures, all of whom were personally invited by the organizers and come from the world of Sport and Security. This was a seminal site visit in an international forum and demonstrated the international flavor of the world class research DHS S&T is doing.
