ACTION: Notice of availability.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA or Agency) is announcing the availability of a revised draft guidance for industry entitled “Definitions of Suspect Product and Illegitimate Product for Verification Obligations Under the Drug Supply Chain Security Act.” The draft guidance is intended to help industry better understand the definitions of “suspect” and “illegitimate” product as defined in the Drug Supply Chain Security Act (DSCSA). FDA is announcing the availability of a revised draft guidance for industry entitled “Definitions of Suspect Product and Illegitimate Product for Verification Obligations Under the Drug Supply Chain Security Act.” This guidance interprets the terms used in the definition of “suspect product” set forth in section 581(21) of Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FD&C Act) (21 U.S.C. 360eee(21)), and the definition of “illegitimate product” set forth in section 581(8) of the FD&C Act to assist trading partners in meeting verification obligations (including notification) under section 582(b)(4), (c)(4), (d)(4), and (e)(4) (21 U.S.C. 360eee-1 (b)(4), (c)(4), (d)(4), and (e)(4)), respectively.

This draft guidance is intended to help industry better understand the definitions of “suspect” and “illegitimate” product as defined in section 581 of the FD&C Act. The draft guidance lays out FDA’s current understanding of the following key terms used to define “suspect” and “illegitimate” product in section 581 of FD&C Act: “Counterfeit,” “diverted,” “stolen,” “fraudulent transaction,” and “unfit for distribution.” In response to comments received from stakeholders, this draft guidance revises the March 2018 draft guidance. Most significantly, this revised draft guidance: (1) provides for FDA’s current understanding of the term “stolen”; (2) identifies certain scenarios that are unlikely to result in diverted product; (3) revises the definition of “unfit for distribution” by tying it more closely to the language in the DSCSA and referencing “serious adverse health consequences or death to humans”; and (4) revises the definition of “fraudulent transaction” to apply to situations where information has been “knowingly” falsified.

This draft guidance is being issued consistent with FDA’s good guidance practices regulation (21 CFR 10.115). The draft guidance, when finalized, will represent the current thinking of FDA on “Definitions of Suspect Product and Illegitimate Product for Verification Obligations Under the Drug Supply Chain Security Act.” It does not establish any rights for any person and is not binding on FDA or the public. You can use an alternative approach if it satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

II. Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995

FDA tentatively concludes that this draft guidance contains no collection of information. Therefore, clearance by the Office of Management and Budget under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 is not required.
