Abstract of information available

A total of two cultural items have been requested for repatriation. The two sacred objects are pipes. The pipes were collected by Stewart Culin in 1900 at an "Indian Rancheria on the Mad River" in the Hoopa Valley. At the request of the Wiyot Tribe the cultural items were tested to determine whether they had been treated with contaminants. There is no known presence of any potentially hazardous substances.

Determinations

The Field Museum has determined that:

- The two sacred objects described in this notice are specific ceremonial objects needed by a traditional Native American religious leader for present-day adherents to practice traditional Native American religion, according to the Native American traditional knowledge of a lineal descendant, Indian Tribe, or Native Hawaiian organization.

- There is a reasonable connection between the cultural items described in this notice and the Wiyot Tribe, California.
