SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In accordance with the PRA, as part of our continuing effort to reduce paperwork and respondent burdens, we provide the general public and other Federal agencies with an opportunity to comment on new, proposed, revised, and continuing collections of information. This helps us assess the impact of our information collection requirements and minimize the public's reporting burden. It also helps the public understand our information collection requirements and provide the requested data in the desired format.

A Federal Register notice with a 60-day public comment period on this information collection was published on November 12, 2024 (89 FR 89025). One comment was received from the Bureau of Economic Analysis supporting the collection of this data as nationally important. We are again soliciting comments on the proposed ICR that is described below. We are especially interested in public comments addressing the following issues:

(1) is the collection necessary to the proper functions of the USGS minerals information mission; (2) will this information be processed and used in a timely manner; (3) is the estimate of burden accurate; (4) how might the USGS enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (5) how might the USGS minimize the burden of this collection on the respondents, including through the use of information technology.

Comments that you submit in response to this notice are a matter of public record. We will include or summarize each comment in our request to OMB to approve this ICR. Before including your address, phone number, email address, or other personally identifiable information (PII) in your comment, you should be aware that your entire comment—including your PII—may be made publicly available at any time. While you can ask us in your comment to withhold your PII from public review, we cannot guarantee that we will be able to do so.

Abstract: Respondents will provide the USGS with domestic production and consumption data for 22 ores, concentrates, and metals, some of which are considered strategic and critical. This data will help determine national defense stockpile goals. USGC will collect this data through the use of on-line electronic and paper forms. These data and derived information will be published as chapters in minerals yearbooks, monthly mineral industry surveys, annual mineral commodity summaries, and special publications for use by government agencies, congressional offices, educational institutions, research organizations, financial institutions, consulting firms, industry, academia, and the general public.

We will add a currently OMB-exempt “Battery Recycling” (USGS Form 9-4147-A) canvass that will permanently exceed 9 potential respondents and convert to OMB-exempt status the “Alumina” (USGS Form 9-4055-A) and “Pig Tin” (USGS Form 9-4090-M) canvasses because of a permanent reduction in the number of potential respondents.

OMB-exempt canvasses are the canvasses with less than 10 expected potential respondents. Canvasses with less than 10 potential respondents are exempted under the PRA, and, therefore, are not included in ICRs. Such canvasses contain the statement “OMB approval not required” in the upper right corner. We also include the following statement on the canvass instrument: “This canvass is exempt from requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act (44 U.S.C. 35) and does not require clearance from OMB.”
