SUMMARY: The Administration for Children and Families (ACF), Office of Child Support Enforcement (OCSE), is requesting the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to approve an extension of the State Self-Assessment Review and Report (SARR) for an additional three years. The information collected in the reports helps state child support agencies and OCSE determine whether the agencies meet federal child support performance requirements. The contact information has been revised. The current OMB approval expires May 31, 2025.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Description: State child support agencies are statutorily required to annually assess the performance of their child support programs and to provide a report of the findings to the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. The information collected in the SARR is used as a management tool to determine whether states are complying with federal mandates and to help states evaluate their programs and assess performances. A related notice inviting public comment, which published September 4, 2024, (89 FR 71905) referenced edits to change OCSE to the Office of Child Support Services. This change is no longer relevant and has not been incorporated in the final version for OMB review. The contact information was updated with current information.
