Abstract of information available

Human remains representing, at least, four individuals have been identified. The one associated funerary object is unmodified faunal remains (one tooth). The individuals were removed from a location, or from multiple locations near Milan, Ohio. Milan is in Erie County and Huron County. The individuals and associated funerary object were likely removed by Raymond C. Vietzen (1907-1995) between the 1940s and 1990s near Milan in Erie County, Ohio.

Vietzen, an avocational archaeologist, collector, and author, established the Indian Ridge Museum in Elyria, Ohio, and the Archaeological Society of Ohio (formerly the Ohio Indian Relic Collectors Society). The Indian Ridge Museum, founded in the 1930s, served as Vietzen's laboratory and repository, and it remained in operation until the mid-1990s. After Vietzen's death, the facility fell into disrepair, and most of the items he had acquired and housed at the museum were sold. In 1998, the Ohio Historical Society (presently the Ohio History Connection) removed ancestral human remains and some of the remaining items from the facility and temporarily housed them at the Ohio Historical Society. In October of 2003, these remains were transferred from the Ohio Historical Society to Mercyhurst College (presently Mercyhurst University).

While there is no record regarding potentially hazardous substances having been used to treat the human remains, tape, unidentified adhesives, and an unidentified plaster or similar type of substance are present. It is unknown when the tape, adhesives, and other substance were applied. An unidentified adhesive was applied to the associated funerary object. It is unknown when the adhesive was applied.

Cultural affiliation

Based on the information available and the results of consultation, cultural affiliation is reasonably identified by the geographical location or acquisition history of the human remains and associated funerary object described in this notice.
